

Words Worth Eating

BROILED CRAB PUFFS

"They melt in your mouth!"

1 pound crab meat, special or backfin
1 5-ounce jar Old English
sharp cheese
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/8 teaspoon ground red pepper

4 tablespoons butter, melted
2 teaspoons French's regular mustard
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
10 saltines, crushed
6 English muffins, halved and quartered (48 pieces)

Gently pick through crab to remove all shell. Heat the jar of cheese in a pan of hot water or in the microwave long enough to soften. Combine all ingredients except crab and muffins; mix well. Gently add crab. Spoon crab mixture on uncooked triangles of English muffins. (Now here's the secret: These crab-topped muffins must be frozen for at least 30 minutes before broiling.) When ready to serve, broil until bubbly and slightly golden brown. It will only take a few minutes. Yields 48 pieces.

Note: Be sure to use all 48 pieces of muffins. If made too thick, the outside will get too brown before the center cooks. Make these ahead of time and keep in the freezer for 3-4 weeks before baking. Keep well sealed. Bake as needed for entertaining.

“The author of this recipe promises they will be the talk of the evening! You can just stand back and listen to everyone carry on!”