Heat oil over low heat in a large, heavy saucepan with tight fitting lid; add onions and sauté until translucent. Add ginger and sauté an additional 2 minutes. Increase heat to medium and add stock and carrots; cover, reduce to simmer and cook until carrots are very tender. Season with salt and white pepper. Puree in small amounts and serve warm or chilled. Serves 6-8.

Note: Soup can be prepared a day ahead and gently reheated. If preparing a day ahead, use a 2-inch piece of ginger.
