At the Ship's Cabin in Norfolk, the champagne cocktail has replaced the martini for many people, says Scott McWhinney. "Champagne is such a showy and atmospheric drink," he says, "many people don't want to wait for a celebration to drink it."

SHIP'S CABIN MIMOSA

2 ounces fresh orange juice

1/2 ounce Grand Marnier

champagne

Place orange juice in tulip-shaped champagne glass. Fill with champagne. Float Grand Marnier on top.

The 219 Restaurant in Alexandria offers its customers an extensive champagne list, including a 1976 Cuvee Dom Perignon, but the Kir Royale is the favorite champagne cocktail.
