

Ukrop's Words Worth Eating

SHRIMP AMANDINE

"Easy to prepare!"

1 pound medium shrimp,
peeled and deveined
2 tablespoons extra-virgin
olive oil
1 tablespoon corn oil
2-3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1-2 cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons corn oil margarine

1/4 cup finely chopped shallots
or green onions
1/3-1/2 cup sliced almonds,
lightly toasted
1 dash Tabasco
1-2 teaspoons white wine vinegar
1-2 tablespoons chicken broth
1/8 teaspoon salt

(over)

2-3 cups cooked rice, to serve with shrimp

2-3 sprigs parsley, for garnish

Combine olive oil, corn oil, lemon juice and garlic and pour over shrimp; allow to marinate for 1 1/2 hours. Drain shrimp and reserve marinade. Melt margarine in a sauté pan and sauté shrimp and shallots until shrimp turn pink, about 4-6 minutes. Place drained shrimp and shallots on a heated plate. To pan drippings, add reserved marinade, almonds, Tabasco, white wine vinegar, chicken broth and salt. Let cook over low heat for 2-4 minutes or until reduced to half its original volume; pour over shrimp. Arrange shrimp on a platter with hot rice. Garnish with parsley. Serves 2-3.

Note: For ease of preparation, marinate shrimp and cook rice early in the day. The actual cooking time of the shrimp is only 8-10 minutes. Cooked rice can be warmed in the microwave. In place of the corn oil margarine, a butter-margarine blend can be substituted.

Serve with green peas and mushrooms and a fruit salad!"