

Serves 4-6

Very Good

Chicken Szechwan w/ Peanuts

2 whole chicken breasts

1 c. oil

1 egg white

1 T. sesame oil

2 T. cornstarch

2-3 dried red peppers

3 T. light soy sauce

2 oz. peanuts (raw)

1 T. sherry

1 T. molasses

1/2 teas. salt

1/3 c. water

~~1/2 teas. monosodium glutamate~~

3 T. sugar

2 bunches green onions

1 clove garlic, mashed to pulp

1 T. vinegar

Remove skin + bones from chicken breasts; save for later use or discard. Cut breasts into square pieces about $3/4$ to 1 inch.

Beat egg white w/ 1 T. cornstarch, 1 T. light soy sauce, + sherry until mixture is frothy. Marinate chicken in this mixture for at least 30 min, turning occasionally so that chicken is well coated.

In a small bowl, combine salt, MSG, sugar, mashed garlic, vinegar, molasses, water, remaining cornstarch, + remaining soy sauce.

Chicken Szechwan w/ Peanuts (cont.)

Blend until perfectly smooth, then add green onions.

Heat oil in skillet. Stir fry chicken in hot oil until each piece turns white. Remove to absorbent paper & keep warm.

Discard oil & wipe skillet w/ paper towel.

Heat sesame oil over medium heat. Add dried red peppers & cook until they turn black.

Add chicken, peanuts, & vinegar - molasses - onion mixture. Mix well & cook for 2-3 min.
